Natural Bamboo Pulp for Food-Service Packaging

Made of 100% Virgin bamboo pulp

Bamboo for wood, natural tone for bleached white.

Decades for trees, 3 years for bamboo. Bamboo paper, faster eco solution.

Bamboo delivers outstanding carbon cycle performance, absorbing twice the CO<sub>2</sub> and releasing 35% more oxygen than conventional wood.

Bamboo is a fast-growing renewable fibre source with a natural warm tone.

Compared with traditional wood fibre, bamboo can support a differentiated material story for premium food-service packaging.

- Fast-growing fibre source
- Natural unbleached appearance
- Suitable for selected food-service packaging application

BAMBOO PAPER WITH PHA COATING

PHA is a bio-based polyester produced through microbial fermentation using renewable carbon sources such as sugars, oils and organic residues.

When combined with natural unbleached bamboo paper, PHA coating offers a bio-based barrier alternative to conventional PE extrusion coating, with the potential to support compostability pathways where certified.
